10 - Which parts of this course were most valuable to your overall learning experience?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- The discussion sections and the lectures helped me understand our topics.
- The plenaries were the most valuable to my overall learning experience.
- I thought breaking down the readings during section were helpful.
- The various articles with varying global perspectives was something really great this class offered. I enjoyed reading them!

11 - Which parts of this course would you suggest changing?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- N/A
- I would suggest changing the prompts and units to being more specific and less general.
- I would say breaking down the readings more because they are quite dense. Also supplying shorter ones because they are already difficult to understand.
- The communication between professors needs to be better when it comes to requirements of the paper. Each teacher looks for something different. Also some professors have assignments that account for their grade while other professors don't and the section grade is more heavy on the essays.

16 - What is the most valuable contribution the course has made to your education?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- Understanding how globalization is seen across so many different aspects of the world and how interconnected everything is.
- It has allowed me to learn more about the players in globalization.
- It has made me more aware of global issues and about how domestic issues are not secluded to the US.
- The communication between professors needs to be better when it comes to requirements of the paper. Each teacher looks for something different. Also some professors have assignments that account for their grade while other professors don't and the section grade is more heavy on the essays.

17 - Taking everything about MAX 132 into consideration, what aspects of the course did you find most informative?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- How culture and identity are crucial in understanding how countries interact.
- I found the lectures about other parts of the world most informative and not just about what is happening in the United States.
- Definitely the Culture Unit. It gave me lots of insight on how deep-rooted and bad racism can be.
- The structure of the class material and various articles with differing perspectives.

18 - Is there any aspect of the course that can be improved?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- N/A
- I would improve how the plenaries take attendance I felt that the QR code was sometimes taken down before 8:30 and it was a very short window not allowing any room to be late.
- I would just say shorter readings. Sometimes they can get kind of hefty.
- Communication of what the professors are looking for in essays and communicating with students on the get-go. The prompts are weirdly specific and the advice the professors give is saying we're being too specific or too broad and provide no real constructive feedback when grading the papers afterwards. Another issue is that the way we were told to structure our essays seem very inaccurate to the professional level.

19 - How would you describe the contribution of your section leader in helping you better understand the course materials?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- She was great and very well prepared, always encouraging discussions where we could share our thoughts and opinions.
- She was very good at targeting the main ideas of the readings and what is the most useful information we can get out of a reading.
- She was very thorough when it came to essay workshops and I feel like I can write better analytical papers.
- My section leader was actually wonderful in creating layouts and demonstrations of how to approach our essay but everything was really over analyzed and difficult to comprehend until many attempts to help students realize the components we needed to include in our papers.

21 - In what ways did meetings with the writing consultant, help you improve your writing?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- She helped me write at a more advanced level and improved my grammar.
- Good at creating a thesis but overall not that helpful.
- She gave good advice on cutting out fluff in the papers, and on being more concise with my sentences.
- The writing consultant professor did not help at all. I went for constructive feedback and ended up with a grade I have never received in my life. If help for writing is needed, it should only be coming from the professor grading the paper. I was told I was doing really well when in reality I was completely misled. I'm still furious about that.

22 - In what ways did your section leader help you improve your writing?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- She helped improve the structure of my essays and also how to think critically on my opinion.
- She gave me good feedback on each of my assignments and ways I can improve on my writing.
- She helped me figure out trouble spots where I could have been clearer in my analysis or sentence structure.
- She helped me really understand how my writing could improve and stick to the topic - I tend to branch out on subjects I don't need to focus on. She also really helped me develop the way I approach and make my thesis statements.

24 - Which readings did you find most interesting and informative? Give either title or topic.

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- Those from unit 3 and unit 4
- I found the Unit 3 readings most informative.
- How Kenya is helping its neighbors develop geothermal energy
- The Lustgarten readings, the New York times ones that gave us bite sized information but great, to the point discussions, and the sources that relied on interviews where different narratives were introduced.

25 - Which readings did you find least interesting?

Response Rate 4/15 (26.67%)

- Those from unit 2
- I found Unit 1 to be least interesting because it was more about theories and defining globalization.
- The Lustgarten essay on Palme Oil
- Ones that were overly philosophical and long.It took too long to read when we didn't even discuss them too much.

27 - Give some reasons why you ranked MAX 132 where you did.

Response Rate 3/15 (20%)

- It related to almost all my other classes and was the course I found most interesting.
- MAX132 was a great class to be in. It was informative and interesting to learn more about the everchanging world. My biggest issue was getting through the readings. While I tried my best to contribute to class discussions and have intellectual conversation with my peers, it was incredibly difficult to weave through the complex language, immense amount of detail and length of the readings while also having to closely read and analyze them.
- Its a class that has a lot of potential. Working on more case specific issues for us to consider will definitely help us understand the global perspective better. This wasn't new material and the prompts for this class were difficult to write for as each professor was looking for something different, making it hard for students to help each other if confused.

- No because I already took one MAX course.
- I might, it works as an IDEA course and really applies to my focus on studies.

30 - Has your experience in MAX 132 increased your interest in taking other social science courses?

Response Rate	3/15 (20%)
----------------------	------------

- Yes
- Yes, I think they are useful especially during our current political climate.
- I would agree it has really helped me stay in the loop with niche topics and staying connected with global developments. Having a class each semester that supplements global connection really helps with educating students with their media literacy skills.
